Future Makers

The “Future Makers” program introduces secondary school students to the world of entrepreneurship. By getting to know and interacting with professionals from today’s job market, students explore different career and entrepreneurial pathways and understand how an idea can evolve into a business.

More specifically, the program enables students to:

- discover today’s professional and business world,
- develop an entrepreneurial mindset and creative thinking,
- gain inspiration from the experiences and journeys of professionals and entrepreneurs,
- develop key soft skills,
- become familiar with basic principles of how a business operates.

Students participate in live group sessions with professional mentors from today’s job market. Topics include entrepreneurial mindset and personal development, turning an idea into a business, financial sustainability, the use of AI and the role of marketing. Students also learn about entrepreneurs’ journeys, the challenges they faced, and the choices that shaped their paths. Deloitte employees participate in the program as mentors, sharing their professional experience and knowledge of the world of entrepreneurship with students.

The program is implemented with the support of Deloitte and the contribution of its employees for the 2026–27 school year.
